

Ordering Rudder-Like-Butter

The RuB (for short) is a rugged combination of molded plastic and aluminum that offers shallow water operation, excellent speed potential, and steering from anywhere in the cockpit. It can be mounted on either the bow or stern of virtually any small boat. For sailors, RuB allows for hands-free sailing and controlling your boat's course by shifting your weight. With two rudders—one at the bow, one at the stern—centerboards or leeboards become unnecessary. Rowers and paddlers, on the other hand, will find the RuB is a wonderful asset in a crosswind. Plus, once it's installed, you'll realize how easy it would be to convert your manually powered craft into a sailboat.

Rudder-Like-Butter: the versatile small craft rudder with the undignified name.
